

Aircraft – IoT Data management

Monitoring aircraft cabin air quality

Abstract: Real-time monitoring of cabin air quality is of paramount interest. The proposed system employs supervised ML techniques on simulated data to monitor air quality and suitably mitigate the anomaly as much as possible. The CO₂ values and TPH parameters are monitored, and a neural network is trained to classify anomalies to various kinds to facilitate efficient mitigation.

